Summary of scientific research

My research interest includes oral literature and ethnography; peoples and cultures of Nigeria and Africa; anthropology of marriage and the family; cultural resource management; indigenous knowledge systems and qualitative research methodology. I have over sixty academic publications mainly in the area of Benin (Nigerian) culture and tradition and have been working in the field of irregular migration since 2003.

I have participated in some research-based consultancies in the field of irregular migration with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) the United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute (UNICRI); International Organization for Migration (IOM); Walk Free Foundation Research on Modern Slavery Landscape in Nigeria 2014; United Nations African Institute for the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders (UNAFRI); National Agency for the Prohibition of Trafficking In Persons (NAPTIP) and the Salvation Army.

My current scientific activities include measures to combat trafficking in women and girls in Benin City, Nigeria, and counter-trafficking initiatives in Nigeria. I have conducted researches on examination of the role of the family in the trafficking of girls and women in the Benin society (2008/2009); prevailing perception of trafficking, prevention, and anti-trafficking activities among communities in Edo State (2012); Why Benin City? An assessment of Edo State and Benin City endemic areas in trafficking in persons (2012). Trauma healing for victims of human trafficking: the need for a post-trafficking psychosocial package in Benin City, Edo State, Nigeria (2016-2018), and transnational remittances from human trafficking and the changing socioeconomic status of women in Benin City, Edo State, Nigeria (2016-2019).
